MINE FOREMAN EXAMINATIONS ARE FINISHED

There are 84 persons taking the examination being given at the Charleroi Savings and Trust company hall today, for fire boss, in the 21st Bituminous district by Inspector F. W. Cunningham, H. B. Drum and Peter Crocket, composing the district examining board. This number is 20 more than was expected by the board. Fire bosses are in great demand in the mines of the district, which comprise mines from Charleroi to above Brownsville. Inspector Cunningham will finish up the fire boss papers first and expects to make known the results of the examination within two weeks. The results of the mine foreman papers will be make known within possibly a month.

The questions given the applicants for fire boss certificates this morning were:

Preliminary Questions:

A Are you a citizen of this Commnwealth?

B. What is your age?

C. If a naturalized citizen produces proof of your citizenship.

D. Have you testimonials of character?

E. How many years' practical experience have you had in the bituminous mines of this State and in other States and countries?

F. Have you had any experience in mines in this country generating explosive gases? If so, state in detail the character of such experience, the length of time employed and the nature of the employment at each mine so employed, giving the names of the mines and employers.

Section I—Fire Boss Questions:

1. When and where would you expect a sudden inflow or outburst of explosive gas and how would you guard against danger therefrom?

2. What precautions would you take with your safety lamp before entering the mine and how would you proceed with its use while in the mine to insure the greatest safety to yourself and others?

3. What qualifications are necessary other than those required by law to make a good and efficient fire boss?

4. When does a safety lamp become unsafe?

5. What protection is secured in a mine worked exclusively with locked safety lamps that cannot be expected in one worked exclusively with open lights?

6. Name the gases usually found in the bituminous mines. State where they are found and briefly state their injurious effects upon the workmen.

The questions given in the finishing up of the mine foreman examinations yesterday were:

Section VI—First Grade Questions.

38. What instructions would you give shot firers before permitting them to enter upon their duty?

39. Give the specific gravities of the different gases common to the bituminous mines of this State, and where they are found.

4. Where and when should regulars be used in conducting air currents in mines?

41. What precautions would you take in driving entries through gaseous and faulted territory?

42. Describe in detail what examination you would make before firing shots.

FEDERAL BUILDING WANTED

Congressman Tener Will Present Claims of Monongahela.

SEEKING DATA TO ASSIST

Relative to the bill for the erection of a public building at Monongahela, Congressman J. K. Tener received the following self-explanatory letter from Congressman B. F. Howell, chairman of the sub-committees to which the bill was referred:

Hon. J. K. Tener,
House of Representatves.

My dear Congressman: In reply to your valued favor of yesterday I would say that the sub-committee No. 3 of Public Building and Grounds, decided in view of the fact that so many bills had been presented for its consideration that the better way would be to give hearings to the members of Congress who introduced the bills. In regard to a delegation coming from your district I would say that your personal appearance before the committee will receive greater consideration than any delegation you might bring here to appear before the committee. Therefore I think it unnecessary for your people to go to the bother of coming here at this time.

Yours very truly,
Ben J. F. Howell.

Under these circumstances Mr. Tener is seeking for data to assist him in obtaining an appropriation for the public building at Monongahela, and in speaking of the subject he said he had every asssurance from the members of the committee that the Monongahela bill will receive favorable consideration.

J. K. JOHNSTON WILL LECTURE ON MEXICAN CUSTOMS

Tonight at Christ Lutheran church Jesse K. Johnston, superintendent of the Charleroi Coal works, will deliver a lecture on Mexico, the lecture to be illustrated with views furnished by the National Art Bureau of Philadelphia. Last year Mr. Johnston traveled through Mexico, and gained many ideas of the customs of the natives there, and collected an interesting lot of articles, made by the Mexicans. These he will display tonight at the lecture. Many of the relics come from San Juan Teoticlan, a prehistoric city said to be over, 2,000 years old. The lecture, which will begin at 8 o'clock, will be free and the public in general is invited. It will be given under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Andrew and Phillip.

FIRE DESTROYS HOUSE AND CONTENTS ON LOCK HILL

The two story frame dwelling house of Lawrence Emerson on Point Breeze, Lock Hill, with all its furnishings was destroyed by fire last night. The building was burned to the ground, and the loss will be in the neighborhood of $3,000. The building is located in an out of way place, and it was useless to turn in a fire alarm. Neighbors responded, however, but were too late.

The flames started in an up-staire room at about 5:30 o'clock, it is understood from a defective flue. It was not discovered until after it had gained great headway, and the best the Emerson family could do then was to save themselves. It is not known whether or not the building was covered by insurance.

600 MEN ARE WORKING

Agreement Reached Through Efforts of President Feehan.

Through a visit of President Francis Feehan, of the Pittsburg district, and a couple of board members of the United Mine Workers to California last night, a settlement was reached whereby the miners of Vesta No. 4 will return to work. This morning there were about 600 went back to their employment, and it is expected that the others will follow in short order. The terms of the settlement have not been made public, but it is understood that complete harmony on the scale. The miners had gone to work previously but quit again on a disagreement.

Investigated 16 Deaths Last Month

Coroner James T. Heffran investigated 16 sudden and violent deaths during the month of March. The mines were responsible for four fatalities and in two cases the victims came to their deaths by their own carelessness. Other causes of death were as follows: Killed by trains, 3; suicides, 2; burns, 2; accidental poisoning, 1; fall, 1; murder, 1; paralysis of the heart, 1; unknown cuse, 1.

Fines in Germany.

The German workman who the other day was fined in a London police court probably considered that he had a genuine grievance when he complained that, in addition to the fine, his compulsory attendance at the court had lost him a day's pay. For they do these things better at any rate from the delinquents' point of view—in the fatherland. For what may be described as a trivial offense the worker is not compelled to attend the court, and the amount of the fine is collected from him at his house by a policeman. In the event of a more serious though still comparatively venial breach of the law, punishable by a short term of imprisonment, justice is satisfied if he works off the time by installments Sundays and holidays.—London Chronicle.

Curious Old Laws.

Some of the old laws of Nepal, India, were curious. Killing cows ranked with murder as a capital offense, for instance. Every girl at birth was married with great ceremony to a betel fruit, which was then cast into a sacred stream. As the fate of the fruit was uncertain the girl was supposed never to become a widow. To obtain divorce from a husband a wife had only to place a betel nut under his pillow and depart. In Nepal the day is considered to begin when it is light enough to count the tiles on the roof or distinguish the hairs on a man's hand against the sky.

When Pa Helped.

"I've got a wonderful boy," said the father of five—"my oldest, I mean. He came to me the other night with a subject for composition. He asked me offhand to write it for him. I put down my paper and wrote it. I flattered myself that I did rather well with that composition, it having been some time since I had had occasion to write one, but I hardly expected the encomium I got from him. The next day at dinner time he came rushing home, hurried up to me and slapped me on the back.

"'Hurrah for you, pops!' he cried. 'You are all right. You stand third in the class.'"—New York Press.

Relieves Distress in Five Minutes

Let Mrs. Griffith tell you about Miona, the greatest prescription for stomach troubles ever written:

"For years I have doctored for acute gastritis, but only received slight benefit, and had to be careful what I ate. But, thanks to Mi-o-na stomach tablets, I can now eat anything. Last Christmas, after partaking of a heavy turkey dinner, I was seized with an attack of acute indigestion, and the doctor worked over me for hours before I got relief.

He paid me eight visits before I could say I was well enough to sit up. But since then I have taken Mi-o-na tablets, and I have not been troubled since. Before using Mi-o-na I had attacks about every month."—Mrs. Ida Griffith, 123 C. St., Washington, D. C., July 15, 1909.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold by druggists everywhere and at Piper Bros. for 50 cents a large box. They are guaranteed to cure indigestion, sour stomach, belching gas, dizziness, biliousness, heaviness, or any stomach ailment.

AMONG THE THEATERS

The Palace—Charleroi.

"On the Ganges," was the subject of a most beautiful travel picture at the Palace Theatre this week. The scenes showed the teeming life of this most sacred river of India, where the population come to lave in and drink its waters. Miles and miles of this most famous river were shown and the crowds of people in boats, and on shore in verigated costumes, made it appear as one continuous carnival. There were shown the temples and pagodas of the Hindoos, with broad stairways leading down to the sacred waters of the river wherein the population feels in duty bound to bathe every day and drink of the waters, as well as the burning gauts, where corpses are cremated after death. It was a most impressive sight and gave a realistic idea of that part of the world that is little known except by printed descriptions. There were other good pictures of comedy and tragedy, one of the latter being "No Trifling With Love," which told of a sombre ending to man's inconsistency and woman's faith. The pictures change again tonight.

The Alvin—Pittsburg.

The coming Southern-Marlowe engagement at the Alvin Theatre in Pittsburg next week beginning Monday night in Shakespearean repertoire, is the center of attention of theatre goers. There are two eminent artists who occupy on the American stage the same position as did Hading and Coquelin to France, and Irving and Terry to England, bring here their massive new Shakespearean productions and the opportunity to see Miss Marlow, who is known as the greatest Juliet on the English speaking stage and Mr. Sothern, whose fame in romantic roles has made it possible for him to be an ideal Romeo, will be taken advantage of by theatre-goers. Sothern and Marlow's present tour of this season partakes of a dramatic carnival. This is promised to rank with the most important presentation of Shakespearean works given in recent years in this country. The company includes among others Frederick Lewis, Rowland Buckstone, William Harris, Malcolm Bradley, Sidney Nather, Nora Lamison, Alma Kruger and Kitty Wilson. The sale of seats opens Thursday morning, but mail orders will be filled in the order of their receipt when accompanied by money order or check. A self addressed and stamped envelope should be enclosed in order that the tickets may be sent to the purchaser. The repertoire is as follows:

Monday night, "Romeo and Juliet" Tuesday, "The Merchant of Venice" Wednesday, "As You Like It." Thursday, "The Taming of the Shrew." Friday, "Hamlet." Saturday matinee, the only matinee of the engagement, "Twelfth Night." Saturday night, "Romeo and Juliet."

The Grand—Pittsburg.

The most pretentious dramatic offering in vaudeville today is "The Lion-Tamer," which Valerie Bergere and her company of twenty people will present at the Grand, Pittsburg, next week, beginning Monday matinee. It is a comedy drama of circus life, written expressly for Miss Bergere by Edward Weitzel, and presents a scene in the dressing room and hallway of the New York Hippodrome. It deals with the theme of love and jealousy amidst actions of the liveliest kind. Zaida, queen of the lions and Frauline Braatz, a German prima donna, are rivals for the affections of Captain Jack Samson, who tames the ring of beasts. The climax is a furiously sensational episode, depicting an attack by an enraged lion upon Samson and his rescue at the peril of her own life by Zaida.

The great Italian protean star, Mr. Arturo Bernardi, who looks like Mascagni, the composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana," an is able to impersonate a hundred different characters, is an extra attraction for the forthcoming week. Frauline Katenen Loisset, a European chanteuse, will appear for the first time in Pittsburg with a novel specialty. Frauline Loisset sings a number of songs descriptive and otherwise, and then introduces her wonderful trained dog, "Honey," who impersonates various other animals and personages.

What is said to be the greatest exhibition of trained animals in the world will be presented by Professor Apdale and his educated bears, dogs and trained ante-aters. It is a performance so uncommonly attractive that it is bound to enlist the interest of both the adult and the juvenile theatre-goers.

Clifford Burke, black face comedians, will amuse with songs and stories. The eccentric humor of Mr. Clifford and the quieter comedy of Mr. Burke combine to make a specialty at once varied and entertaining. De Ota Gae, in an acrobatic comedy and various others are in the program.

The Nixon—Pittsburg.

One of the most interesting features of the coming engagement of De Wolf Hopper in his greatest comedy success, "A Matinee Idol" in which he will be seen at the Nixon Theatre, Pittsburg, on Monday next, is that this will be the first opportunity local playgoers have had to see Mr. Hopper as he really is. Until the present time Hopper has appeared in what are technically known as "eccentric makeups," and he has relied to a certain extent to their aid in his fun making. In his new play he appears on the stage in modern dress and without facial adornment other than that provided by nature.

Taken from a famous old French comedy, Mr. Hopper's play has all the charm of high class comedy with the added delight of lilting melodies, clever songs, and the prettiest chorus by which he has ever been surrounded.

He is aided in his funmaking by Miss Harriet Burt, who, in addition to her own unusual ability as a dancer and her charm as a singer, has added a remarkable power for objecting comedy. Miss Berta Mills, a young singer with a voice of haunting sweetness, is another powerful aid toward making the ensemble the most delightful. Others in the company are Joseph Santley, George Backus, Georgia Mack, Miss Gertrude Gibbons, Miss Dorothy Glenville, Miss Florence Courtney, Miss Elda Curry, William Jackson and others. Daniel V. Arthur has outdone himself in selecting a chorus which can sing and whose looks challenge comparison with any aggregation of perfect pulchritude placed before the public.

New Duquesne—Pittsburg.

One of the most successful plays ever written, "The Dairy Farm," is to be presented by the Harry Davis Stock company at the New Duquesne Theatre next week. It is a play dealing with country life, is filled with comedy and pathos and the liveliest sort of action. As a pastoral play "The Dairy Farm" is considered well nigh perfect. It was written by Elenore Merron and when first produced in New York scored a tremendous hit.

The scenes are laid in the south shortly after the close of the war, and the simplicity and lovableness of some of the characters are delightfully charming. The play is one that also required scenic effects quite out of the ordinary, while the costumes are quaint but historically correct. It is needless to say that "The Dairy Farm" will lose none of its popularity in the hands of such capable actors and actresses as compose the Harry Davis Stock company. Next Monday afternoon and evening ladies will be presented with souvenir photographs of a member of the company. There will be a matinee every day.

Trust Busting.

The Imperial Window Glass company is the latest trust to run afoul of the National anti-trust laws. Lately organized by the various large and small hand shop factories in the country, some of them along the Monongahela river, for the purpose of putting the window glass business on a more uniform and stable basis, the combination gets indicted right off the reel by a Federal grand jury as an unlawful trust, organized and conducted in restraint of trade.

Those who have followed the struggles of the window glass industry, particularly the hand making branch, know how precarious it has been in the industrial and commercial world during the past ten years. Ruinious price cutting and trade warfare has made what should be a staple and steady industry one of the most uncertain during all this period. With a good demand for the product the market has always been more less demoralized, and factories that should have run steadily each season have been idle for lack of orders. It is the belief that if the market can be controlled that the hand making industry can be put upon a profitable basis, and this was the object of the combination. This, however, is contrary to law, and the combine must answer charges of combining to restrain trade. It is now up to the plants involved to learn and practice the efficacy of "the gentlemen's agreement."

A Good Sign.

One of the encouraging signs of the times is the large number of coal miners who seek to qualify themselves to fill higher and more responsible positions in connection with their craft. At the district mine examinations held in Charleroi this week twenty-five candidates took the examinations for mine boss' certificates, and eighty-four were examined as candidates for certificates that will qualify them to fill the position of fire boss.

As coal mining becomes more complicated and nazardous there are created more positions of responsibiliy and trust. These must of necessity be filed by sober, intelligent men of good judgement with skilled theoretical and technical training. It is within the province of almost any high school graduate who enters the mines to pursue a course of study at his leisure moments by which he can acquire the elements of mine engineering which, in connection with his practical experience, will qualify him for higher and more remunerative positions in the mine. This is a career that offers great opportunities for young men who start out with that end in view, and the field in this immediate vicinity alone is practically unlimited for their advancement.

Now For The Census.

With the announcement of the census enumerators by Supervisor C. O. Frye, will shortly begin the work of taking the decennial census of the United States. Extra precautions have been taken to make this census more accurate and complete than any of the preceding ones, and as the statistics thus gatherd are of vital importance in the aggregate to the Government, it is essential that every individual give a hearty co-operation in the work.

As will be noted by the appointments the list shows that the corps selected to do the work should be capable and effective. It is a matter of local pride for each district to make as good a showing as possible, and every citizen should make it a patriotic duty to aid in every possible way the taking of this census.

CHARLES W. LUTZ TRANSFERRED TO BIRMINGHAM PLANT

It is stated that Frank B. Haynes of Rankin has been appointed by the officials of the United States Steel corporation to fill the position of general manager of the American Steel and Wire company plant at Donora. He succeeds Charles W. Lutes the late manager, who has been promoted to be general manager of the new plant of the American Steel and Wire company near Birmingham, Ala. The new works will be located at Ensley, Ala., and will cover between 10 and 12 acres of ground. It will involve an expenditure of $4,000,000 and will be larger than any of the plants of the wire company now built.

ENTERTAIN FOR FEBRUARY BRIDE

A little afternoon party, pretty in all its appointments, was given by Miss Belle Parsons Thursday at her home on Fallowfield avenue in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Ed. C. McNeal, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., a February bride. White and green were the colors used. A flower contest and a doll-dressing contest furnished entertainment for the guests. The successful contestants were Mrs. W. E Harper of Charleroi and Mrs. James G. Binns of Donora. Mrs. McNeal, who possesses a rich contralto voice, sang several selections. The hostess served a dainty lunch.

Thursday evening Mrs. W. E. Harper entertained a few ladies at a theatre party at the Palace, with refreshments at Wagner's, in honor of Mrs. McNeal.

TO HAVE TESTIMONIAL

Popular Manager of the Nixon Theatre Will Be Remembered Monday Night.

The annual testimonial which Samuel F. Nixon tenders to Thomas F. Kirk, Jr., manager of the Nixon Theatre, Pittsburg, upon which occasion the theatregoers of that city take a real pleasure in showing their appreciation of his many courtesies and kindly treatment of the theatregoing public which has now extended to a period of 16 years, will take place at the Nixon Theatre next Monday evening, April 1, when that most delightful comedian, De Wolf Hopper, will be seen there for the first time in his most recent comedy success, "A Matinee Idol."

As usual the demand for seats for Mr. Kirk's testimonial has been unusually heavy. This would be true in any event but this season's demands for seats is made even greater by the desire to be present at the first performance of Mr. Hopper's new play.

At no time in many years during which Mr. Hopper has been before the laughter loving public of this country has the town so decided an unequivocal a success as has come to him in this new song comedy. Up to the present time Hopper has relied to a certain extent, on a ludicrous and often impossible style of make-up to aid in his fun getting efforts. In the present piece Mr. Hopper comes before his audience in modern dress with only enough make-up to counteract the effect of the stage lights. As the audience sees Mr. Hopper on the stage so his friends and admirers see him in private life. His comedy effects are therefore the result solely and entirely for his own art and if the unanimous verdict of the critics of Chicago and a series of packed audiences here can be relied upon Mr. Hopper never had anything half so funny as "A Matinee Idol."

OFFICERS ELECTED AT ANNUAL MEETING

The Dorcas society of ladies of the First Baptist church held their annual business meeting yesterday and re-elected Mrs. Blanche Jacobs, president; Mrs. J. L. Reeves secretary, and Mrs. C. C. Holyfield treasurer. Mrs. Joseph Shilling was elected vice president. Five new names were added to the roll. After the business session, an informal reception was tendered Mrs. Blanche Jacobs, the retiring president, and Mrs. E. M. Chalfant the retiring vice president. Lunch was served.

RECEPTION HELD FOR MASONS AND SONS UNDER 21

An informal reception was given last night at the Bank of Charleroi hall for Masons and their sons under 21 years of age, and the affair was one of the brilliant social events of the season. The reception consisted of an entertainment and dance.

The entertainment program consisted of music, readings and addresses. Those who participated in the musical numbers on the program were: Vocal trio, Mrs. J. B. Myers, Mrs. R. E. Drum, Miss Bertha Easter of California; solo, Miss Easter; quartet, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Drum, Miss Easter and Mrs. T. L. Pollock; double quartet, Misses Patti Rodgers, Mary E. Walters, Florence Crill, Rosetta Rodgers, May Barth, Elsie Crill, Price Frye, Mrs. A. H. Bosson; instrumental, piano, Miss May Barth; violins, Miss Ethel Barth and Master Darwin Barth. Readings were given by Mrs. Dolly Jeffries, Miss Majorie Carson, and Miss Victorine Carson. An address was made by Mrs. Dolly Jeffries, Miss Marjorie Carson, and Miss Victoria Carson. An address was made by Mr. Coffin of California.

Jerkins orchestra furnished music, dancing following the rendition of the program. Many guests were present from out-of-town.

CONVENTIONAL HALF HOUR AT C. E. SOCIAL

A petition from the miners of the Eclipse mine near Elco was presented in court yesterday, appealing from the order of the mine inspectors to use locked safety lamps. The inspectors claim the mine is gaseous and too dangerous for the use of open lights. The miners aver in their petition that the use of the safety lamps would decrease their earnings, besides endangering their lives by not being able to see cracks and dangerous places in the roof as readily as with open lights. They also claim that as the covering of the mine is thin at that point the gas escapes through the top and is not dangerous.

The Christian Endeavor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church last night gave a very interesting social in the Sunday school rooms of the church, and a good number were present. A program was rendered, beginning with a brief entertainment, "A Touch of Real Life." This proved decidedly interesting. Following was a "half hour of conversation," of various topics, among them being "Who Will be the Next President of the United States?" "The Value of a Church Baseball League" and "The Essentials of an Up to-Date Christian Endeavor Society." Lunch was served.

A MAN OF LUCK.

The Story of the Test by the Eastern King's Minister.

A king once said to a minister, "Do you believe in luck?"

"I do," said the minister.

"Can you prove it?" asked the king.

"Yes, I can."

So one night he tied up to the ceiling of a room a bag containing peas mixed with diamonds and let in two men, one of whom believed in luck and the other in human effort alone. The one who believed in luck quietly laid himself down on the ground in his blanket; the other after a time found the bag and, feeling in the dark the peas and stones, ate the peas and threw the diamonds to his companion, saying, "There are the stones for your idleness."

The man below received them in his blanket.

In the morning the king and the minister came and told each man to keep what he had found. The man who believed in trying got the peas which he had eaten; the other got the diamonds.

The minister then said, "Sire, there may, you see, be luck, but it is as rare as peas mixed with diamonds, so let none hope to live by luck."—An Eastern Fable.

Painful Ailment.

Though gout is generally reckoned a disease of rich men and free livers one of the worst of sufferers from it was a well known English minister who died not long ago.

A friend once said to him, "Dr. So-and-so, what is gout like?"

The clergyman smiled sadly. "If you put your hand in a vise," he said, "and let a man press as hard as he can, that is rheumatism, and if he can be got to press a little harder, that is gout."

Why He Came Back.

"Wasn't you here a few weeks ago?" asked the woman of the house at the back door.

"Yes'm," replied the wanderer, "but I understood from a pal that you've got a new pastry cook since then!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Her Answer.

An Atchison girl had a proposal of marriage and asked a week to think it over. She went to all of her married sisters. One, who used to be a belle, had three children, did all her own work and hadn't been to the theater or out riding since she was married. Another, whose husband was a promising young man at the time she was married, was supporting him. A third didn't dare say her life was her own when her husband was around, and a fourth was divorced. After visiting them and hearing their woes the heroine of this little tale went home, got pen, ink and paper and wrote an answer to the young man. You may think it was refusing him, but it wasn't. She said she could be ready in a month.—Atchison Globe.

Faith, Hope and Charity.

A London weekly offered 2 guineas for a definition of faith, hope and charity. The winner is as follows: Faith, blind trust in a first page; hope, what investors are fed upon; charity, what some of them are likely to be brought to.

That is certainly not bad, but this one is perhaps even better: Faith, the gift that saves mankind; hope, the gift that cheers mankind; charity, the gift that makes man kind.

A Compositor's Blunder.

Some years ago the following apologetic explanation for a compositor's blunder appeared in a leading weekly literary journal published in London:

"In our last number, as we discovered unfortunately too late for correction, we announced that Mr. John Stuart Mill's inaugural address lately delivered before the University of St. Andrews had since been republished by him 'in the form of a five shilling elephant.' Even the most ardent believers in Mr. Mill's powers among our readers will probably have received this announcement with some incredulity. The fact is that by an error of the press the word 'elephant' was substituted for 'pamphlet,' and the mistake, although the proof was read and reread, unluckily escaped the corrector's eye."

He Got the Chair

On a very hot afternoon a number of around town chaps who didn't seem to have much to do were lounging in the chairs in front of a leading hotel. Several traveling men came out of the hotel and, finding all of the chairs occupied, looked and spoke things that wouldn't go well in polite society.

"Let's dump a few of them out," suggested one.

"Hold on a minute," replied another. "Watch me get a chair." With that he walked over to one of the loungers and in the most courteous way said: "Will you please tell me whether that is a drug store across the street?"

"No," replied the lounger; "that's a bank."

"Oh, is it? Well, say, what is that nice big building just down the street there, two corners away?"

"That's the postoffice," was the reply.

"You live in this charming city then?" asked the drummer.

"I do," said the lounger.

"Well, then," replied the traveling man, "I'm a guest at this hotel and paying for accommodations. Suppose you get up and give me that chair."

He got the chair.—Kansas City Journal.

How She Did It.

"So she refused you?"

"That's the impression I received."

"Didn't she actually say no?"

"No, she didn't. All she said was 'Ha, ha, ha!'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Old College Ways.

Students at St. Andrews university two centuries ago paid nothing for their rooms, but £3 10s. per quarter enabled them to dine at the high table. For £5 11s. 1d. poorer men could get through the whole session—just six months. Breakfast was served at 7 a. m. and consisted of an oatmeal loaf and half a pint of beer. For supper each had half a twopenny loaf and a pint of beer. At the high table poultry, broth and beef were served, and at the second a plentiful supply of broth and beef. Herrings and flounders sometimes graced the board. Beer there was in abundance, and the colleges in those good old days had their brew house, a perquisite of the porter, who was permitted to sell ale to the students.—London Antiquary.

Wearing Work.

"How's your husband doing?" said the pale woman.

"'Bout the same," answered the thin woman.

"Hasn't he got any regular work yet?"

"Yes. He said he felt the need of some steady occupation. So he thought he'd make it his business to wind the clock."

"Did he stick to it?"

"For awhile, but now he's kicking for an eight day clock."—Kansas City Dependent.

The Bishop's Rebuke.

A conceited young cleric once said to an American prelate, "Do you not think that I may well feel flattered that so great a crowd came to hear me preach?"

"No," was the answer, "for twice as many would come to see you hanged."—From "The Old Time Parson," by P. H. Pitchfield, M. A.

An Influence in Religion.

A great influence in religion is the melancholy man. The men who have been in the torments of hell make the great poets and the great orators. We can't have depth without pain.—Rev. Dr. S. P. Cadman, Congregationalist, Brooklyn.

On the Homespun Order.

Would that our lives in this modern age could be more on the homespun order! They would then stand untarnished the wear and tear, the temptations and trials of every day.—Dr. Charles Luther Kloss, Congregationalist, Philadelphia.

Redeeming Criminals.

The Son of Man valued law and its penalties as agencies for the redemption, not the destruction, of criminals. Christ abhorred crime, but he mingled with criminals in the hope of redeeming them.—Rev. James B. Clayton, Baptist, Washington.

Faith.

Have faith in God, for faith is sunshine, is strength, peace, food, drink, sleep. Faith is a mother's arms infolding her child. Faith is the helmsman at the wheel. Faith is the pole star which directs our course from shore to shore.—Rev. Dr. L. M. Zimmerman, Lutheran, Baltimore.

To Become an "Immortal."

How it ennobles our work when we realize that it is part of the great plan of God! By bringing our loftiest visions to bear upon the practical things of life we learn to do our best work and bring forth evidences of the divinity within us. Our work will not be merely for time, but for eternity. In that way we may become one of the "Immortals."—Rev. J. W. Roberts, Congregationalist, New York.

Worldly Prosperity.

If religion cannot stand the closest scrutiny, throw it away, for it is no good. If God cannot stand the same test, then reject God. We cannot doubt God, for the blessing of his spirit is within us. The desire for worldly prosperity is the curse of the nation and of the church. We today mix up too much our worldly prosperity with religious victory. In fact, our idea of God has become worldly prosperity.—Rev. J. Howard Wells, Methodist Episcopal, Washington.

Best Seed to Sow

The best kind of seed to sow is love true as a mother's, sympathy like an eternal spring, generosity whose hand cannot be closed, loyalty surpassing devotion to country, purity that vies with the mountain snow whiteness, truth as sure as the rising sun and as rich in helpfulness, charity that dispenses its gifts as the flower its fragrance, sacrifice that counts no cost and keeps near the cross, friendship that knows no superior save in Christ.—Rev. James A. Matheson, Presbyterian, Quincy, Mass.

Unity of Human Nature.

The unity of human nature is a fact of the gravest importance when we attempt to estimate the forces of the spiritual life. No faculty acts in isolation. The intellect acts upon and is acted upon by the conscience and the emotions. Wrongdoing disturbs the mental balance. Doubt grows on the soil of sinful indulgence. The consciousness of religious difficulties should lead us to greater carefulness of life. If we are full of doubts, then let us make as sure as we can that we have not blocked up by willful sin any window of the spirit.—Rev. H. Hersley Henson, Canon of Westminster Abbey, London.

Value of Experiences.

Every experience we pass through is to fit us to help others passing through a similar experience. Paul was a great sufferer, and to him we turn for words of comfort in affliction. So we in turn are to make our experiences a blessing to others. A traveler to the far west was stranded in St. Louis and so compelled to give up his purpose. But after much hardship he began to prosper and gathered a fortune. He knew what it was to be stranded on the way and to suffer disappointment. In his will he left a large sum to help stranded pilgrims west. Andrew Carnegie had a library opened to him when he was eager to learn, but without books. From that experience came his free libraries all over the country. These men made their experience work out for others' good, for it enabled them to appreciate others' needs and minister to it. Make an application of this principle today in your own life. You have your peculiar experiences. You have suffered pain. What sympathy you ought to have for sufferers! You have made your mistakes. What gentleness you ought to exercise toward those who err! You were discouraged, and some one helped you by a kind word. How ready you ought to be to speak a word of cheer! You have had your feelings hurt by criticism. How careful you ought to be for the feelings of others! You know the frightful stress of temptation. Why not lend a hand to the tempted? Have you found a Saviour? Then how eager you ought to be to tell others of him! Do you thank God for your experiences because they help you to help others? That's part of the Christian life.—Rev. Park Hays Miller, Presbyterian, Philadelphia.

Meat Versus Song.

The great tenor's lunch consisted of a cheese omelet, asparagus, fruit and an ice.

"No meat?" said the reporter.

"As little meat as possible," the tenor replied. "Meat kills song. The nightingale, the thrush and lark are grain eaters, and their song is sweet. The carnivorous birds, the crow, etc., only croak. And in countries that go in for excessive meat eating—England, for instance—there are few good voices, while in the more vegetarian countries, such as Italy, fine singers abound. Song birds are vegetarian," he concluded. "Carnivorous birds croak."—New York Press.

DIET FOR THE FAT.

Sugar and Starchy Foods to Be Avoided—Juicy Vegetables and Water.

It is popularly believed that all fat persons are gross feeders, but this is not true. Indeed, the reverse is often the case. Obesity may be a disease, or, rather, a prominent symptom of one, the trouble being with the internal chemistry of nutrition—a disease of metabolism, as it is called. It is comparable to diabetes—nearly related to it, in fact. In this disease sugar is formed in excess in the system even when very little is taken with the food, and so in obesity there is a tendency to the formation of fat in the body, even if little fat forming food is eaten. In most cases much can be done by a regulation of the diet.

The amount of meat should not be increased, but the quantity of sugar and starchy foods should be reduced, their place being taken by nonstarchy vegetables, such as spinach, cauliflower and salads. The foods to be avoided or taken in great moderation are those which contain much starch, such as rice and potatoes and all sweets—pies, puddings and candy. Tea and coffee should be taken without sugar if taken at all, and chocolate should be omitted entirely.

Bread is fattening, but for most persons it seems an indispensable article of diet. Its amount can, however, be limited, and it should be toasted.

Fats are less harmful than sugar and starch and may be allowed in moderation in the form of butter and salad oil.

The belief that the drinking of water makes fat is erroneous. If one eats juicy vegetables and especially the less sweet fruits, such as apples and grapefruit, and abandons the use of sugar, there will be a natural reduction in the amount of water taken, but one should drink all that is needed to quench thirst.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Few skins can stand glycerin, and it should never be used without being diluted. It absorbs all moisture, and the skin becomes dry and parched.

Neuralgia may very often be speedily relieved by applying a cloth saturated with essence of peppermint to the seat of pain and leaving it there.

Do not overeat or wear overtight clothes if you would avoid a red nose. Indigestion and cramped circulation can paint a more vivid hue than the rouge pot.

A good deodorizer is made by applying a hot poker to a lump of camphor gum in a saucer. The strong fumes will clear the atmosphere of a room in a few moments.

The health of the eye must be guarded. The girl who reads in a bad light, who does not care whether print is good or bad, who sits in a huddled position, with her head forward, is deliberately spoiling any beauty of eyes she may possess.

A well known chiropodist has given this hint for shoe comfort: "Never wear a shoe that will not permit the great toe to lie in a straight line." Cramping the toes not only gives corns and bunions, but so affects the feet that general misery follows. Never let vanity force you into a shoe too small. The penalty is too steep. It seemed that this particular form of silliness was disappearing, but the recent action of shoe manufacturers in insisting on the correct number being placed in shoes, whether women liked it or not, looks as if common sense in footgear still bore cultivating.

It b been learned that headaches ha nothing whatever to do with the bra since the brain 'weeps actively at w under many distressing spells of he ache, but the trouble is due to t unhealthful state of the blood, whi does not properly feed the nerves the head.

Compensation For Injury.

Compensation for injury in the m dle ages was in its infancy. The v ume of the accounts of the lord hi treasurer of Scotland, just publishe tells incidentally of payments made sufferers in the siege of Glasgow 1544. To a carter who lost his ho $25 was paid, but $10.56 sufficed fo woman whose husband was killed. like sum being given to the owners two broken drums.

The Flying Hours.

Twelve little birds fly by in a row—
Bright little birds are they,
Shining and free and as blue as can b
And these are the hours of the day.
The sun shines warmly across their wi
As they flutter their way along,
And now and again in their joy of thi
They carol a daytime song.

Twelve little owls fly by in a row—
Silent and dark their flight—
Gray little things with shadowy wing
And these are the hours of the night
But the last of them all as he hovers
Is flushed with a radiant pink,
This is the good little sunrise owl.
I like him the best, I think.

Tips For Home Wedding.

The summer wedding is a dainty fair, as all rosetime happenings m be. And the bride and the bridegro and most of all the bride's fan must not forget that at this weddi as at all weddings all the year rou showiness isn't—well, just isn't v nice. The wedding breakfast, for stance, may be a charming piece gracious hospitality and happine But for persons of moderate means is the worst possible taste to splu In the usual way. An afternoon morning wedding can be made charming without extravagance with it, while the little spread prov ed at home for the intimate few m with taste, take on a special exquisi ness through its very reserve. A ficial light lending particular charm gala effects, have the big table whi is to hold the refreshments in the d ing room so lighted. Candles fling pretty glow, particularly if shad with a faint pink, and it is not ab lutely necessary for the trimmings a bride's luncheon or tea table to in white, though the general prejud is for this.

If the table is gracefully decorate candle shades, ribbons and flowers in one tone—any little bite and sup enough to show good feeling. A si ple buffet bite or afternoon tea f quently follows a wedding instead the usual more elaborate breakfast.

At this there may be a big bowl fruit punch, sandwiches of seve sorts, fancy cakes, ices and bonbo For those who may not care for t punch bouillon, coffee, tea or cho late may be offered. Have the spre of whatever dainties you choose, b remember that an invitation to t home calls for some sort of hospitali however slight.

The bride also cuts the weddi cake herself and sees that every gue has a portion.

Are You Aware

that in your city there is an association of consumers, 600 of them banded together for their own good. Our society is 8 years old this month and has accomplished much in reducing the cost of the necessaries of life.

If groceries are cheaper in Charleroi than in any town in the valley it is due to the fact that the Co-Operative Store is the thing to be counted with. Not only we sell goods cheaper than any merchant in Western Pennsylvania, but if any profits, we repay those profits in the shape of dividends to the right owner—to the consumer.

You're welcome in our membership.

25c will pay your admission as member

As soon as your admission is paid in you participate in all the benefits the association is bringing to its members. You have a right to vote and elect your own officers. You share in the division of surplus each three months, according to the amount of goods you have bought. Unlike other corporations, the moneyed man does not rule our society; it is one man one vote and no proxy. The highest amount of stock a person can have in the association is $100. And whether you have $5 or $100 invested your rights are the same. Equal right and opportunity to all. Co-operation means "The greatest good to the greatest number." No distinction in nationalities, creeds or politics. It is common good of the entire humanity.

We Sell The Marvel Self-Working Washer

The wonderful invention that enables you or your housemaid to attend to the regular household duties while the clothes are being washed—washed sweet and clean.

Attach the hose to the faucet and turn on the water—that is all you have to do. Washes a tubful of clothes in from 7 to 15 minutes without rubbing or tearing. The gentle, rotary motion forces the water through the fabric, takes out all the dirt. Washes heavy blankets or dainty lingerie equally well.

Buy a Marvel. Save yourself from the work and worry of wash-day. Save your clothes from the wear and tear of the wash board. Save your laundry bill. This means actual dollars to you, and the Marvel costs only $15.—It pays for itself over and over in one year. It is positively guaranteed.

Runs itself by ordinary water-works pressure.

FLINT AND TINDER.

Making Fire In the Days Before We Had Matches.

A friend of mine of just my age used to laugh about his own boyhood and tell the story of his mother shaking him in bed and bidding him put on his boots when he dressed and his overcoat and wade through the snow to the next neighbor's to get a pan of hot coals with which to make the fire. I suppose Joe's mother had lost her flint. We kept our flint and what was called "the steel" in a round tin box such as would hold a quart of strawberries now, and it was on the mantelpiece in the kitchen. It was half full of tinder. Half the boys and girls of today do not know what tinder is or was.

Now, whoever was in the kitchen in the morning and found that the last hot coal of the wood fire had gone out took down the tinder box and struck the steel with the flint smartly and often until a redhot spark fell on the tinder; then very carefully she blew with her breath on any flakes of the tinder which had lighted until she had quite a little cove of lighted tinder. Then she took what we called a brimstone match and put that very carefully in the little hot hole. If all things worked well, the brimstone lighted and the wood of the match lighted, and she lighted the candle which made a part of the tinder box.

Oh, dear! There were thousands of tinder boxes in little Boston the day I was born, and a few years ago I tried to buy one as a curiosity, and I could not find one in any of the junkshops. In those days old women would stop at the door and ask you to buy some bundles of matches. They had made these themselves of pine wood four inches long, which they had dipped in hot brimstone at both ends. And those were the only matches that anybody ever heard of.—Woman's Home Companion.

THE JOY OF EATING.

It Is Courted to the Fullest Extent In Berlin.

The Germans in a good many ways get more happiness out of life as they go along than we do. Eating is an innocent pleasure, and they eat oftener and more. No one is required to get up to breakfast. There is never any formal family breakfast. Coffee and rolls are sent to your room, or you can go into the dining room and get them when you choose. Not having had breakfast enough, a German spends all the rest of the day in making up for it. At 10:30 or 11 everybody takes lunch. The laborers along the streets all stop to eat. And in general it may be said that in all places and at all hours it is good form and a matter of course to draw out a substantial sandwich of rye bread and raw ham and go to munching. Women do it at the opera. Students do it at the university between classes. Dinner comes at 2 o'clock. About 5 the maid brings to your room coffee and rolls and perhaps cake. At 8 p. m. is supper. Those who are going out to any entertainment may have supper at 6 or 7. But there is always a long enough intermission at the opera or theater for those who are disposed to take lunch, and most persons are disposed.

There are innumerable restaurants all about the city, and tens of thousands of people eat there, sitting at little tables in the open air right by the sidewalk. After the day with all its cares and meals is over it is a favorite custom to go to a restaurant and sit there for half the night eating and drinking and listening to music. No city in the world hears so much good music so cheaply as Berlin. And everybody who is anybody knows enough about music to talk with some intelligence.—Berlin Letter to Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Do Crows Recognize Sunday?

A large number of crows were foraging for food not long ago close to the house of a farmer in West Virginia. They were unusually bold, as though hunger had driven them to forget their usual shyness and distrust of their natural enemies—men.

Two of them alighted close to the back door and picked up the crumbs with an apparent assurance of their safety not easily accounted for. The farmer was telling a neighbor about the tameness of the birds, and the latter remarked:

"You won't see them foolhardy tomorrow."

"Why not tomorrow as well as today?"

"Because today is Sunday, and these crows know it. They know that one day in seven they are not popped at by boys and men. They can count, crows can, and they know that on the seventh day they are exempt from persecution.

"I once lived near a swamp where thousands of crows made their roosting place, and early in the morning they used to start for the mountains for their food. I was often out with my gun trying to get a shot at them. Week days they were shy of me, and I seldom got a shot at them, but on Sunday morning it was different. Then they would fly low and close to my house, their wings almost flapping the ridgeboards of house and barns. Do crows know when it is Sunday? Of course they do."—Exchange.

Sleepy Sermons.

"Some men preach," said Sydney Smith, "as if they thought sin is to be taken out of a man as Eve was taken out of Adam, by casting him into a profound slumber."

A Fixed Law.

"You are positive this happened on Tuesday?" demanded counsel.

"I am," said the witness.

"Sure it was Tuesday?"

"Yes."

"Why not Thursday or Friday?"

"Because we had chicken that day. Chicken day is Tuesday where I board."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Cook's Declension.

"It's bad," she said.

She dropped it.

"It's worse!" she hastily added.—Exchange.

Not Acting.

A HARD TASKMASTER.

Agassiz Forced His Pupils to Find Out For Themselves.

When I sat me down before my tin pan Agassiz brought me a small fish, placing it before me with the rather stern requirement that I should study it, but should on no account talk to any one concerning it or read anything concerning fishes until I had his permission so to do. To my inquiry, "What shall I do?" he said in effect: "Find out what you can without damaging the specimen. When I think that you have done the work I will question you." In the course of an hour I thought I had compassed that fish. But Agassiz, though always within call, concerned himself no further with me that day nor the next nor for a week. At first this neglect was distressing. But I saw that it was a game, for he was, as I discerned rather than saw, covertly watching me. So I set my wits to work upon the thing and in the course of a hundred hours or so thought I had done much, a hundred times as much as seemed possible at the start. I felt full of the subject and probably expressed it in my bearing. As for words about it then, there were none from my master, except his cheery "Good morning." At length on the seventh day came the question "Well?" and my disgorge of learning to him as he sat on the edge of my table, puffing his cigar. At the end of the hour's telling he swung off and away, saying, "That is not right."

I went at the task anew, discarded my first notes, and in another week of ten hours a day labor I had results which astonished myself and satisfied him. Still there was no trace of praise in words or manner. He signified that it would do by placing before me about a half a peck of bones, telling me to see what I could make of them with no further directions to guide me. Two months or more went to this task, with no other help than an occasional looking over my grouping with the stereotyped remark, "That is not right." Finally the task was done, and I was again set upon alcoholic specimens. — "Autobiography of Professor Shaler" in Atlantic.

The people have already demonstrated that they would rather trust a man who is naturally honest than one who is honest only because he had to be.

John W. Carroll has a firmly established reputation for square dealing and sterling honesty. When they told the people that Rexall Remedies are the purest and most dependable medicines that it is possible for modern science to produce, and that they would tell the public what each one of these 300 or more remedies contained, and that they sold Rexall Remedies on their personal gurantee that they would give entire satisfaction or they would not cost the user a single cent, they were believed.

Ever since this annoucement John W. Carroll has been largely patronized by people buying Rexall Remedies, all of which proves that this store has the confidence of the people and that honesty is the best policy.

There is no "cure all" among the Rexall Remedies There are different and separate medicines, each one devised for a certain human ailment or a class of ailments closely allied. For instance Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are recommended for the positive relief of stomach irritation, indigestion, flatulency and dyspepsia. They are rich in Bismuth Subnitrate, Pepsin and Carminatives. They are prepared by special processes which perfect and enhance the great remedial value of these well known medicinal agents.

This remedy sells for 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00 per package. Every one suffering from stomach disorder should try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, inasmuch as they cost nothing if they do not satisfy.

Remember John W. Carroll's store in Charleroi where these remedies may be obtained and every one in need of medicine is urged to investigate and take advantage of the frank and generous manner in which they are sold.

Notice.

The Retail Clerks of Charleroi wish to express their thanks to the merchants who have so willingly signed and complied with the agreement of the Retail Clerks relative to the early closing of the stores.

They also earnestly solict the patronage of all friends and sympathizers of organized Labor also the public in general to paronize our home merchants, and more especially thoset who display the Union Store cards who believe that twelve hours is long enough for anybody to work.

We also earnestly request the public to aid us in this move by purchasing their goods in the day time when they can make better selections and will receive better service from clerks who do not have to work from early morning till late at night. 195t2

A Marriage Announcement

We've planned it all, dear Jack and I, we're going to marry next July; and we are going to start life right, and make our home a grand delight. Our little house, just nice for two, is furnished and all bright and new. Jack says the floors are smooth and bright—Chi-Namel will do that all right. Chi-Namel will do all any other varnish would do and much that no other varnish could do. It can be washed with hot suds without injury and water can stand on a Chi-Nameled floor for a week without making a white spot. Try a can—50c worth for 100 sq. ft. Sold by T. P. Grant. 9

TEN PEOPLE WHO KNOW HOW TO ACT

Harry M. Bitner's Boys and Girl company, which is holding the boards at the Star Theatre the last three days of this week attracted a record breaking crowd upon the first night.

At each performance the house was packed to its capacity and it was necessary to turn patrons away. To say that the show was enjoyed is expressing it too mildly as the frequent rounds of applause which met the efforts of the performers showed that their work was being appreciated.

The scene of the playlet is a country school house on the last day of school and a program of songs and dances has been arranged. Each member contributes numbers which are interspersed with wit and cross fire.

The work of Frank Zee Rell as "Patsy Bolliver" is seldom equalled and he became quite a favorite last night. Zee Rell, who is past the three score mark, was the original Peck's Bad Boy and has been practically reared behind the footlights. He keeps the fun going from the first to the last moment and every gesture proved amusing. Zee Rell is one of those comedians who puts his whole heart into the work and the faculty of pleasing the most skeptic. He is considered by local critics the best along this line that has ever appeared here. His ability was assisted in his comedy by Evan Evans as Ikey Goldstein, Marie Dacre as Sis Hopkins and Tom Morris, the German school teacher. The other members of the company are well up in their lines. The singing and dancing is excellent The "School Comedy Quartet" made a hit last night and was compelled to respond to several encores. The moving pictures are as always up to the standard.

Her Awful Sin.

A little girl of six once went in great distress to her mother, saying that she had committed a sin which could never be forgiven and which was too bad to be repeated. By dint of a little coaxing she was induced to make a full confession, which was in this wise:

"I felt so sorry for poor Satan and wanted to give him a little comfort. So I got a glass of cold water and poured it down a little hole in the kitchen floor."

BELLS OF THE BASTILLE.

They Are Hung In a Little Rustic Building In Paris.

The bells of the Bastille are still in Paris in a little court in Avenue d'Eylau, where they are hung in a little rustic building. There is no doubt as to their authenticity. They carry in relief their story. "These three bells were made by Louis Cheron, founder to the court, for the royal Bastille in the year 1761." Fleurs-de-lis, crosses and sacred figures adorn the legend. The bells formerly were part of the clock installed by M. Sartine in 1764. In the archives de l'arsenal are all the documents relative to the work.

On July 14, 1789, the balls of the assailants stopped the clock of the Bastille at a quarter past 5 in the evening. Palloy, who demolished the prison, three days later received the order to deliver the clock to the commander of the Paris militia, who transported it no one knows whither. After the revolution the bells were found at the foundries of Rouilly-sur-Andelle, in Eure, where, under the reign of terror, the church bells were converted into money. The proprietor of the foundry was interested in these relics and did not melt them. He installed the three bells in his works with the movement of the clock. By this time the dial plate had disappeared and the figures which belonged to it. Some years ago the bells were transferred from the Rouilly foundry to Paris, and there they have since remained.—London Globe.

Muskrats For Meat.

Of all animals that supply meat to man the muskrat has been the most abused and the least understood, says the Baltimore Star. Its name had bred in the public mind a prejudice that has been almost unconquerable, but truth will prevail in spite of fate. As a fact the muskrat is one of the neatest and most delightful of animals. It is a crank in cleanliness. It dines with the care of an epicure. It eats only the whitest and tenderest morsels. And its flesh has qualities that can be compared only to terrapin. Indeed, there are good people along the Chesapeake, where all the best things live and grow, who find in the well served muskrat satisfaction that is equal to the diamondback. Only the ignorant and the prejudiced think differently, and they may be educated.

Coarsely Defined.

"What is the distinguishing quality of the problem play?"

"It makes you think. The first half keeps you wondering what the question is, and the second half keeps you guessing what's the answer."—Washington Star.

CHARLEROI CLERKS ENTERTAIN LAST NIGHT AT SOCIAL

The Charleroi Retail Clerk's Union last night after their regular business session held a banquet, which was largely attended by members of the Charleroi local and by Monongahela and Monessen people. The banquet was held at the Charleroi Savings and Trust company hall, and there were plates for 112. Ed. Baker, the clerk's organizer, acted as toastamster and there were many responses. President Frank Taylor of the Charleroi local was the first speaker. Others were James Statham, Frank Osborne and Ed. McFadden. T. J. Shores gave an impersonation.

MINE FOREMAN EXAMINATIONS ARE FINISHED

There are 84 persons taking the examination being given at the Charleroi Savings and Trust company hall today, for fire boss, in the 21st Bituminous district by Inspector F. W. Cunningham, H. B. Drum and Peter Crocket, composing the district examining board. This number is 20 more than was expected by the board. Fire bosses are in great demand in the mines of the district, which comprise mines from Charleroi to above Brownsville. Inspector Cunningham will finish up the fire boss papers first and expects to make known the results of the examination within two weeks. The results of the mine foreman papers will be make known within possibly a month.

The questions given the applicants for fire boss certificates this morning were:

Preliminary Questions:

A. Are you a citizen of this Commonwealth?

B. What is your age?

C. If a naturalized citizen produces proof of your citizenship.

D. Have you testimonials of character?

E. How many years' practical experience have you had in the bituminous mines of this State and in other States and countries?

F. Have you had any experience in mines in this country generating explosive gases? If so, state in detail the character of such experience, the length of time employed and the nature of the employment at each mine so employed, giving the names of the mines and employers.

Section I—Fire Boss Questions:

1. When and where would you expect a sudden inflow or outburst of explosive gas and how would you guard against danger therefrom?

2. What precautions would you take with your safety lamp before entering the mine and how would you proceed with its use while in the mine to insure the greatest safety to yourself and others?

3. What qualifications are necessary other than those required by law to make a good and efficient fire boss?

4. When does a safety lamp become unsafe?

5. What protection is secured in a mine worked exclusively with locked safety lamps that cannot be expected in one worked exclusively with open lights?

6. Name the gases usually found in the bituminous mines. State where they are found and briefly state their injurious effects upon the workmen.

The questions given in the finishing up of the mine foreman examinations yesterday were:

Section VI—First Grade Questions.

38. What instructions would you give shot firers before permitting them to enter upon their duty?

39. Give the specific gravities of the different gases common to the bituminous mines of this State, and where they are found.

4. Where and when should regulars be used in conducting air currents in mines?

41. What precautions would you take in driving entries through gaseous and faulted territory?

42. Describe in detail what examination you would make before firing shots.

FEDERAL BUILDING WANTED

Congressman Tener Will Present Claims of Monongahela.

SEEKING DATA TO ASSIST

Relative to the bill for the erection of a public building at Monongahela, Congressman J. K. Tener received the following self-explanatory letter from Congressman B. F. Howell, chairman of the sub-committees to which the bill was referred:

Hon. J. K. Tener,
House of Representatves.

My dear Congressman: In reply to your valued favor of yesterday I would say that the sub-committee No. 3 of Public Building and Grounds, decided in view of the fact that so many bills had been presented for its consideration that the better way would be to give hearings to the members of Congress who introduced the bills. In regard to a delegation coming from your district I would say that your personal appearance before the committee will receive greater consideration than any delegation you might bring here to appear before the committee. Therefore I think it unnecessary for your people to go to the bother of coming here at this time.

Yours very truly,
Ben J. F. Howell.

Under these circumstances Mr. Tener is seeking for data to assist him in obtaining an appropriation for the public building at Monongahela, and in speaking of the subject he said he had every asssurance from the members of the committee that the Monongahela bill will receive favorable consideration.

J. K. JOHNSTON WILL LECTURE ON MEXICAN CUSTOMS

Tonight at Christ Lutheran church Jesse K. Johnton, superintendent of the Charleroi Coal works, will deliver a lecture on Mexico, the lecture to be illustrated with views furnished by the National Art Bureau of Philadelphia. Last year Mr. Johnston traveled through Mexico, and gained many ideas of the customs of the natives there, and collected an interesting lot of articles, made by the Mexicans. These he will display tonight at the lecture. Many of the relics come from San Juan Teoticlan, a prehistoric city said to be over, 2,000 years old. The lecture, which will begin at 8 o'clock, will be free and the public in general is invited. It will be given under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Andrew and Phillip.

FIRE DESTROYS HOUSE AND CONTENTS ON LOCK HILL

The two story frame dwelling house of Lawrence Emerson on Point Breeze, Lock Hill, with all its furnishings was destroyed by fire last night. The building was burned to the ground, and the loss will be in the neighborhood of $3,000. The building is located in an out of way place, and it was useless to turn in a fire alarm. Neigbors responded, however, but were too late.

The flames started in an up-stairs room at about 5:30 o'clock, it is understood from a defective flue. It was not discovered until after it had gained great headway, and the best the Emerson family could do then was to save themselves. It is not known whether or not the building was covered by insurance.

LARGE NUMBER OF MINERS TAKING FIRE BOSS EXAMS

Investigated 16 Deaths Last Month

Coroner James T. Heffran investigated 16 sudden and violent deaths during the month of March. The mines were responsible for four fatalities and in two cases the victims came to their deaths by their own carelessness. Other causes of death were as follows: Killed by trains, 3; suicides, 2; burns, 2; accidental poisoning, 1; fall, 1; murder, 1; paralysis of the heart, 1; unknown cuse, 1.

600 MEN ARE WORKING

Agreement Reached Through Efforts of President Feehan.

Through a visit of President Francis Feehan, of the Pittsburg district, and a couple of board members of the United Mine Workers to California last night, a settlement was reached whereby the miners of Vesta No. 4 will return to work. This morning there were about 600 went back to their employment, and it is expected that the others will follow in short order. The terms of the settlement have not been made public, but it is understood that complete harmony on the scale. The miners had gone to work previously but quit again on a disagreement.

A Boon to Religious People

Here is a new one. Greenberg's has a demonstration going on in their McKean avenue show window of a non-swearable collar, called the Loose Scarf. The demonstator just puts on his collar, then his tie. No pulling or hauling, cussing or swearing. Come around and watch the stunt.

OWES HER LIFE TO

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I was troubled with falling and inflammation, and the doctors said I could not get well unless I had an operation. I knew I could not stand the strain of one, so I wrote to you sometime ago about my health and you told me what to do. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier I am to-day a well woman."—Mrs. WILLIAM AHRENS, 988 W. 21st St., Chicago, Ill.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any similar medicine in the country, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every such suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Fines in Germany.

The German workman who the other day was fined in a London police court probably considered that he had a genuine grievance when he complained that, in addition to the fine, his compulsory attendance at the court had lost him a day's pay. For they do these things better—at any rate, from the delinquents' point of view—in the fatherland. For what may be described as a trivial offense the worker is not compelled to attend the court, and the amount of the fine is collected from him at his house by a policeman. In the event of a more serious though still comparatively venial breach of the law, punishable by a short term of imprisonment, justice is satisfied if he works off the time by installments Sundays and holidays.—London Chronicle.

Quick Repairs.

Siam has electricity, says the Calcutta Times, and the thoughtful manufacturers of it have provided to the best of their ability for every conceivable accident. For instance, when the lights go out the remedy is to follow the directions in this notice:

MANAGER SIAM ELECTRICITY COMPANY, LIMITED.

Curious Old Laws.

Some of the old laws of Nepal, India, were curious. Killing cows ranked with murder as a capital offense, for instance. Every girl at birth was married with great ceremony to a betel fruit, which was then cast into a sacred stream. As the fate of the fruit was uncertain the girl was supposed never to become a widow. To obtain divorce from a husband a wife had only to place a betel nut under his pillow and depart. In Nepal the day is considered to begin when it is light enough to count the tiles on the roof or distinguish the hairs on a man's hand against the sky.

When Pa Helped.

"I've got a wonderful boy," said the father of five—"my oldest, I mean. He came to me the other night with a subject for composition. He asked me offhand to write it for him. I put down my paper and wrote it. I flattered myself that I did rather well with that composition, it having been some time since I had had occasion to write one, but I hardly expected the encomium I got from him. The next day at dinner time he came rushing home, hurried up to me and slapped me on the back.

"'Hurrah for you, pops!' he cried. 'You are all right. You stand third in the class.'"—New York Press.

Let Mrs. Griffith tell you about Miona, the greatest prescription for stomach troubles ever written:

"For years I have doctored for acute gastritis, but only received slight benefit, and had to be careful what I ate. But, thanks to Mi-o-na stomach tablets, I can now eat anything. Last Christmas, after partaking of a heavy turkey dinner, I was seized with an attack of acute indigestion, and the doctor worked over me for hours before I got relief.

He paid me eight visits before I could say I was well enough to sit up. But since then I have taken Mi-oina tablets, and I have not been troubled since. Before using Mi-o-na I had attacks about every month."—Mrs. Ida Griffith, 123 C. St., Washington, D. C., July 15, 1909.

Mi-o-na stomach tablets are sold by druggists everywhere and at Piper Bros. for 50 cents a large box. They are guaranteed to cure indigestion, sour stomach, belching gas, dizziness, biliousness, heaviness, or any stomach ailment.

MORE BANK TALK

Did it ever occur to you why all good business men keep a checking account with a bank? We'll tell you. It enables them to keep their funds in a more secure place than the office safe. It gives them a better standing in the business world. It enables them to pay their bills by check, the returned check being an undisputable receipt.

Individuals find a checking account very convenient and a source of saving. Money in one's pocket is often spent on the spur of the moment, while one is disposed to think twice before drawing on his balance in the bank. Get the Savings Habit. Lay up for a rainy day. Start a bank account with the

The Palace—Charleroi.

'On the Ganges," was the subject most beautiful travel picture at Palace The'are this week. The ies showed the teeming life of this t sacred river of India, where the ulation come to lave in and drink waters. Miles and miles of this t famous river were shown the crowds of people in boats, on shore in variegated costumes.
e it appear as one continuous car-
il. There were shown the temples pagodas of the Hindoos, with id stairways leading down to the ed waters of the river wherein population feels in duty bound athe every day and drink of the ers, as well as the burning gauts, re corpses are cremated after
h. It was a most impressive t and gave a realistic idea of that of the world that is little known pt by printed descriptions. There e other good pictures of comedy tragedy, one of the latter being a friendship in love, which told sombre ending to man's inconsisy and woman's faith. The pics change again tonight.

The Alvin—Pittsburg.

ne coming Southern-Marlowe en-ment at the Alvin Theatre in sburg next week beginning Mon-night in Shakespearean repertoire.
e center of attention of theatre
s. There are two eminent artists occupy on the American stage same position as did Heding and telin to France, and Irving and y to England, bring here their massive new Shakespearean productions and the opportunity to see Miss Marlow, who is known as the greatest Juliet on the English speaking stage and Mr. Sothern, whose fame in romantic roles has made it possible for him to be an ideal Romeo, will be taken advantage of by theatre-goers.

Sothern and Marlow's present tour of this season partakes of a dramatic carnival. This is promised to rank with the most important presentation of Shakespearean works given in recent years in this country. The company includes among others Frederick Lewis, Rowland Buckstone, William Harris, Malcolm Bradley, Sidney Nather, Nora Lamison, Alma Kruger and Kitty Wilson. The sale of seats opens Thursday morning, but mail orders will be filled in the order of their receipt when accompanied by money order or check. A self addressed and stamped envelope should be enclosed in order that the tickets may be sent to the purchaser. The repertoire is as follows:

Monday night, "Romeo and Juliet" Tuesday, "The Merchant of Venice" Wednesday, "As You Like It." Thursday, "The Taming of the Shrew." Friday, "Hamlet." Saturday matinee, the only matinee of the engagement, "Twelfth Night." Saturday night, "Romeo and Juliet."

The Grand—Pittsburg.

The most pretentious dramatic offering in vaudeville today is "The Lion-Tamer," which Valerie Bergere and her company of twenty people will present at the Grand, Pittsburg, next week, beginning Monday matinee. It is a comedy drama of circus life, written expressly for Miss Bergere by Edward Weitzel, and presents a scene in the dressing room and hallway of the New York Hippodrome. It deals with the theme of love and jealousy amidst actions of the liveliest kind. Zaida, queen of the lions and Frauline Braatz, a German prima donna, are rivals for the affections of Captain Jack Samson, who tames the ring of beasts. The climax is a furiously sensational episode, depicting an attack by an enraged lion upon Samson and his rescue at the peril of her own life by Zaida.

The great Italian protean star, Mr. Arturo Bernardi, who looks like Mascagni, the composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana," an is able to impersonate a hundred different characters, is an extra attraction for the forthcoming week. Frauline Katchen Loisset, a European chanteuse, will appear for the first time in Pittsburg with a novel specialty. Frauline Loisset sings a number of songs descriptive and otherwise, and then introduces her wonderful trained dog, "Honey," who impersonates various other animals and personages.

What is said to be the greatest exhibition of trained animals in the world will be presented by Professor Apdale and his educated bears, dogs and trained antelopes. It is a performance so uncommonly attractive that it is bound to enlist the interest of both the adult and the juvenile theatre-goers.

Clifford Burke, black face comedians, will amuse with songs and stories. The eccentric humor of Mr. Clifford and the quieter comedy of Mr. Burke combine to make a specialty at once varied and entertaining. De Ota Gae, in an acrobatic comedy and various others are in the program.

The Nixon—Pittsburg.

One of the most interesting features of the coming engagement of De Wolf Hopper in his greatest comedy success, "A Matinee Idol" in which he will be seen at the Nixon Theatre, Pittsburg, on Monday next, is that this will be the first opportunity local playgoers have had to see Mr. Hopper as he really is. Until the present time Hopper has appeared in what are technically known as "eccentric makeups," and he has relied to a certain extent to their aid in his fun making. In his new play he appears on the stage in modern dress and without facial adornment other than that provided by nature.

Taken from a famous old French comedy, Mr. Hopper's play has all the charm of high class comedy with the added delight of lilting melodies, clever songs, and the prettiest chorus by which he has ever been surrounded.

He is aided in his funmaking by Miss Harriet Burt, who, in addition to her own unusual ability as a dancer and her charm as a singer, has added a remarkable power for objecting comedy. Miss Berta Mills, a young singer with a voice of haunting sweetness, is another powerful aid toward making the ensemble the most delightful. Others in the company are Joseph Santley, George Backus, Georgia Mack, Miss Gertrude Gibbons, Miss Dorothy Glenville, Miss Florence Courtney, Miss Elda Curry, William Jackson and others. Daniel V. Arthur has outdone himself in selecting a chorus which can sing and whose looks challenge comparison with any aggregation of perfect pulchritude placed before the public.

New Duquesne—Pittsburg.

One of the most successful plays ever written, "The Dairy Farm," is to be presented by the Harry Davis Stock company at the New Duquesne Theatre next week. It is a play dealing with country life, is filled with comedy and pathos and the liveliest sort of action. As a pastoral play "The Dairy Farm" is considered well nigh perfect. It was written by Elenore Merron and when first produced in New York scored a tremendous hit.

The scenes are laid in the south shortly after the close of the war, and the simplicity and lovableness of some of the characters are delightfully charming. The play is one that also required scenic effects quite out of the ordinary, while the costumes are quaint but historically correct. It is needless to say that "The Dairy Farm" will lose none of its popularity in the hands of such capable actors and actresses as compose the Harry Davis Stock company. Next Monday afternoon and evening ladies will be presented with souvenir photographs of a member of the company. There will be a matinee every day.

Trust Busting.

The Imperial Window Glass company is the latest trust to run afoul of the National anti-trust laws. Lately organized by the various large and small hand shop factories in the country, some of them along the Monongahela river, for the purpose of putting the window glass business on a more uniform and stable basis, the combination gets indicted right off the reel by a Federal grand jury as an unlawful trust, organized and conducted in restraint of trade.

Those who have followed the struggles of the window glass industry, particularly the hand making branch, know how precarious it has been in the industrial and commercial world during the past ten years. Ruinous price cutting and trade warfare has made what should be a staple and steady industry one of the most uncertain during all this period. With a good demand for the product the market has always been more less demoralized, and factories that should have run steadily each season have been idle for lack of orders. It is the belief that if the market can be controlled that the hand making industry can be put upon a profitable basis, and this was the object of the combination This, however, is contrary to law, and the combine must answer charges of combining to restrain trade. It is now up to the plants involved to learn and practice the efficacy of "the gentlemen's agreement."

A Good Sign.

One of the encouraging signs of the times is the large number of coal miners who seek to qualify themselves to fill higher and more responsible positions in connection with their craft. At the district mine examinations held in Charleroi this week twenty-five candidates took the examinations for mine boss' certificates, and eighty-four were examined as candidates for certificates that will qualify them to fill the position of fire boss.

As coal mining becomes more complicated and hazardous there are created more positions of responsibility and trust. These must of necessity be filled by sober, intelligent men of good judgement with skilled theoretical and technical training. It is within the province of almost any high school graduate who enters the mines to pursue a course of study at his leisure moments by which he can acquire the elements of mine engineering which, in connection with his practical experience, will qualify him for higher and more remunerative positions in the mine This is a career that offers great opportunities for young men who start out with that end in view, and the field in this immediate vicinity alone is practically unlimited for their advancement.

Now For The Census.

With the announcement of the census [illegible] Frye, will shortly begin the work of taking the decennial census of the United States. Extra precautions have been taken to make this census more accurate and complete than any of the preceding ones, and as the statistics thus gathered are of vital importance in the aggregate to the Government, it is essential that every individual give a hearty co-operation in the work.

As will be noted by the appointments the list shows that the corps selected to do the work should be capable and effective It is a matter of local pride for each district to make as good a showing as possible, and every citizen should make it a patriotic duty to aid in every possible way the taking of this census.

CHARLES W. LUTZ TRANSFERRED TO BIRMINGHAM PLANT

It is stated that Frank B. Haynes of Rankin has been appointed by the officials of the United States Steel corporation to fill the position of general manager of the American Steel and Wire company plant at Donora. He succeeds Charles W. Lutes the late manager, who has been promoted to be general manager of the new plant of the American Steel and Wire company near Birmingham, Ala. The new works will be located at Ensley, Ala., and will cover between 10 and 12 acres of ground. It will involve an expenditure of $4,000,000 and will be larger than any of the plants of the wire company now built.

ENTERTAIN FOR FEBRUARY BRIDE

A little afternoon party, pretty in all its appointments, was given by Miss Belle Parsons Thursday at her home on Fallowfield avenue in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Ed. C. McNeal, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., a February bride. White and green were the colors used. A flower contest and a doll dressing contest furnished entertainment for the guests. The successful contestants were Mrs. W. E Harper of Charleroi and Mrs. James G. Binns of Donora. Mrs. McNeal, who possesses a rich contralto voice, sang several selections. The hostess served a dainty lunch.

Thursday evening Mrs. W. E. Harper entertained a few ladies at a theatre party at the Palace, with refreshments at Wagner's, in honor of Mrs. McNeal.

TO HAVE TESTIMONIAL

Popular Manager of the Nixon Theatre Will Be Remembered Monday Night.

The annual testimonial which Samuel F Nixon tenders to Thomas F. Kirk, Jr., manager of the Nixon Theatre, Pittsburg, upon which occasion the theatregoers of that city take a real pleasure in showing their appreciation of his many courtesies and kindly treatment of the theatregoing public which has now extended to a period of 16 years, will take place at the Nixon Theatre next Monday evening, April 1, when that most delightful comedian, De Wolf Hopper, will be seen there for the first time in his most recent comedy success. "A Matinee Idol."

As usual the demand for seats for Mr. Kirk's testimonial has been unusually heavy. This would be true in any event but this season's demands for seats is made even greater by the desire to be present at the first performance of Mr Hopper's new play.

At no time in many years during which Mr. Hopper has been before the laughter loving public of this country has the town so decided an unequivocal a success as has come to him in this new song comedy. Up to the present time Hopper has relied to a certain extent, on a ludicrous and often impossible style of make-up to aid in his fun getting efforts. In the present piece Mr. Hopper comes before his audience in modern dress with only enough make-up to counteract the effect of the stage lights. As the audience sees Mr. Hopper on the stage so his friends and admirers see him in private life. His comedy effects are therefore the result solely and entirely for his own art and if the unanimous verdict of the critics of Chicago and a series of packed audiences here can be relied upon Mr. Hopper never had anything half so funny as "A Matinee Idol"

OFFICERS ELECTED AT ANNUAL MEETING

The Dorcas society of ladies of the First Baptist church held their annual business meeting yesterday and re-elected Mrs. Blanche Jacobs, president; Mrs J. L Reeves secretary, and Mrs. C C. After the business session, an informal reception was tendered Mrs. Blanche Jacobs, the retiring president, and Mrs. E. M. Chalfant the retiring vice president. Lunch was served.

RECEPTION HELD FOR MASONS AND SONS UNDER 21

An informal reception was given last night at the Bank of Charleroi hall for Masons and their sons under 21 years of age, and the affair was one of the brilliant social events of the season. The reception consisted of an entertainment and dance.

The entertainment program consisted of music, readings and addresses. Those who participated in the musical numbers on the program were Vocal trio, Mrs. J. B. Myers, Mrs. R. E. Drum, Miss Bertha Easter of California, solo, Miss Easter, quartet, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Drum, Miss Easter and Mrs. T. L. Porlock, double quartet, Misses Patti Rodgers, Mary E Walters, Florence Crill, Rosetta Rodgers, May Barth, Elsie Crill, Price Frye, Mrs. A H. Bosson, instrumental [illegible] Miss Ethel Barth and Master Darwin Barth. Readings were given by Mrs. Dolly Jeffries, Miss Majorie Carson, and Miss Victorine Carson. An address was made by Mrs. Dolly Jeffries, Miss Marjorie Carson, and Miss Victoria Carson. An address was made by Mr Coffin of California.

Jerkins orchestra furnished music, dancing following the rendition of the program. Many guests were present from out-of-town.

CONVENTIONAL HALF HOUR AT C. E. SOCIAL

A petition from the miners of the Eclipse mine near Elco was presented in court yesterday, appealing from the order of the mine inspectors to use locked safety lamps. The inspectors claim the mine is gaseous and too dangerous for the use of open lights. The miners aver in their petition that the use of the safety lamps would decrease their earnings, besides endangering their lives by not being able to see cracks and dangerous places in the roof as readily as with open lights They also claim that as the covering of the mine is thin at that point the gas escapes through the top and is not dangerous.

The Christian Endeavor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church last night gave a very interesting social in the Sunday school rooms of the church, and a good number were present. A program was rendered, beginning with a brief entertainment, "A Touch of Real Life." This proved decidedly interesting. Following was a "half hour of conversation," of various topics, among them being "Who Will be the Next President of the United States?" "The Value of a Church Baseball League" and "The Essentials of an Up to-Date Christian Endeavor Society." Lunch was served.

A MAN OF LUCK.

The Story of the Test by the Eastern King's Minister

A king once said to a minister, "Do you believe in luck?"

"I do," said the minister

"Can you prove it?" asked the king

"Yes, I can"

So one night he tied up to the ceiling of a room a bag containing peas mixed with diamonds and let in two men one of whom believed in luck and the other in human effort alone The one who believed in luck quietly laid himself down on the ground in his blanket the other after a time found the bag and, feeling in the dark the peas and stones ate the peas and threw the diamonds to his companion saying "There are the stones for your idleness"

The man below received them in his blanket

In the morning the king and the minister came and told each man to keep what he had found The man who believed in living got the peas which he had eaten the other got the diamonds.

The minister then said "Sire, there may you see, be luck but it is as rare as peas mixed with diamonds so let none hope to live by luck"—An Eastern Fable

Painful Ailment

Though gout is generally reckoned a disease of rich men and free livers one of the worst of sufferers from it was a well known English minister who died not long ago

A friend once said to him, "Dr. So-and-so, what is gout like?"

The clergyman smiled sadly. "If you put your hand in a vise," he said, "and let a man press as hard as he can, that is rheumatism, and if he can be got to press a little harder, that is gout."

Why He Came Back.

"Wasn't you here a few weeks ago?" asked the woman of the house at the back door.

"Yes m," replied the wanderer, "but I understood from a pal that you've got a new pastry cook since then!"—Yonkers Statesman.

Her Answer

An Atchison girl had a proposal of marriage and asked a week to think it over She went to all of her married sisters One who used to be a belle, had three children did all her own work and hadn't been to the theater or out riding since she was married Another whose husband was a promising young man at the time she was married was supporting him. A third didn't dare say her life was her own when her husband was around, and a fourth was divorced After visiting them and hearing their woes the heroine of this little tale went home, got pen, ink and paper and wrote an answer to the young man You may think it was refusing him, but it wasn't She said she could be ready in a month—Atchison Globe

Faith, Hope and Charity.

A London weekly offered 2 guineas for a definition of faith, hope and charity The winner is as follows: Faith, blind trust in a first page; hope, what investors are fed upon; charity, what some of them are likely to be brought to

That is certainly not bad, but this one is perhaps even better: Faith, the gift that saves mankind, hope, the gift that cheers mankind; charity, the gift that makes man kind.

A Compositor's Blunder.

Some years ago the following apologetic explanation for a compositor's blunder appeared in a leading weekly literary journal published in London

"In our last number, as we discovered unfortunately too late for correction, we announced that Mr John Stuart Mill's inaugural address lately delivered before the University of St. Andrews had since been republished by him in the form of a five shilling elephant.' Even the most ardent believers in Mr Mill's powers among our readers will probably have received this announcement with some incredulity. The fact is that by an error of the press the word 'elephant' was substituted for 'pamphlet,' and the mistake, although the proof was read and reread, unluckily escaped the corrector's eye."

He Got the Chair.

On a very hot afternoon a number of around town chaps who didn't seem to have much to do were lounging in the chairs in front of a leading hotel. Several traveling men came out of the hotel and, finding all of the chairs occupied, looked and spoke things that wouldn't go well in polite society.

"Let's dump a few of them out," suggested one.

"Hold on a minute," replied another. "Watch me get a chair." With that he walked over to one of the loungers and in the most courteous way said: "Will you please tell me whether that is a drug store across the street?"

"No," replied the lounger; "that's a bank."

"Oh, is it? Well, say, what is that nice big building just down the street there, two corners away?"

"That's the postoffice," was the reply.

"You live in this charming city then?" asked the drummer.

"I do," said the lounger.

"Well, then," replied the traveling man, "I'm a guest at this hotel and paying for accommodations. Suppose you get up and give me that chair."

He got the chair.—Kansas City Journal.

How She Did It.

"So she refused you?"

"That's the impression I received."

"Didn't she actually say no?"

"No, she didn't. All she said was 'Ha, ha, ha!'"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Old College Ways.

Students at St. Andrews university two centuries ago paid nothing for their rooms, but £3 10s. per quarter enabled them to dine at the high table. For £5 11s. 1d. poorer men could get through the whole session—just six months. Breakfast was served at 7 a. m. and consisted of an oatmeal loaf and half a pint of beer. For supper each had half a twopenny loaf and a pint of beer. At the high table poultry, broth and beef were served, and at the second a plentiful supply of broth and beef. Herrings and flounders sometimes graced the board. Beer there was in abundance, and the colleges in those good old days had their brew house, a perquisite of the porter, who was permitted to sell ale to the students.—London Antiquary.

Wearing Work.

"How's your husband doing?" said the polo woman.

"'Bout the same," answered the thin woman.

"Hasn't he got any regular work yet?"

"Yes. He said he felt the need of some steady occupation. So he thought he'd make it his business to wind the clock."

"Did he stick to it?"

"For awhile, but now he's kicking for an eight day clock."—Kansas City Independent.

The Bishop's Rebuke.

A conceited young cleric once said to an American prelate, "Do you not think that I may well feel flattered that so great a crowd came to hear me preach?"

"No," was the answer, "for twice as many would come to see you hanged."—From "The Old Time Parson," by P. S. Litchfield, M. A.

An Influence in Religion.

A great innocence in religion is the melancholy man. The men who have been in the torments of hell make the great poets and the great orators. We can't have depth without pain.—Rev. Dr. S. P. Cadman, Congregationalist, Brooklyn.

On the Homespun Order.

Would that our lives in this modern age could be more on the homespun order! They would then stand untarnished the wear and tear, the temptations and trials of every day.—Dr. Charles Luther Kloss, Congregationalist, Philadelphia.

Redeeming Criminals.

The Son of Man valued law and its penalties as agencies for the redemption, not the destruction, of criminals. Christ abhorred crime, but he mingled with criminals in the hope of redeeming them.—Rev. James B. Clayton, Baptist, Washington.

Faith.

Have faith in God, for faith is sunshine, is strength, peace, food, drink, sleep. Faith is a mother's arms infolding her child. Faith is the helmsman at the wheel. Faith is the pole star which directs our course from shore to shore.—Rev. Dr. L. M. Zimmerman, Lutheran, Baltimore.

To Become an "Immortal."

How it ennobles our work when we realize that it is part of the great plan of God! By bringing our loftiest visions to bear upon the practical things of life we learn to do our best work and bring forth evidences of the divinity within us. Our work will not be merely for time, but for eternity. In that way we may become one of the "immortals."—Rev. J. W. Roberts, Congregationalist, New York.

Worldly Prosperity.

If religion cannot stand the closest scrutiny, throw it away, for it is no good. If God cannot stand the same test, then reject God. We cannot doubt God, for the blessing of his spirit is within us. The desire for worldly prosperity is the curse of the nation and of the church. We today mix up too much our worldly prosperity with religious victory. In fact, our idea of God has become worldly prosperity.—Rev. J. Howard Wells, Methodist Episcopal, Washington.

Best Seed to Sow.

The best kind of seed to sow is love true as a mother's, sympathy like an eternal spring, generosity whose hand cannot be closed, loyalty surpassing devotion to country, purity that vies with the mountain snow whiteness, truth as sure as the rising sun and as rich in helpfulness, charity that dispenses its gifts as the flower its fragrance, sacrifice that counts no cost and keeps near the cross, friendship that knows no superior save in Christ.—Rev. James A. Matheson, Presbyterian, Quincy, Mass.

Unity of Human Nature.

The unity of human nature is a fact of the gravest importance when we attempt to estimate the forces of the spiritual life. No faculty acts in isolation. The intellect acts upon and is acted upon by the conscience and the emotions. Wrongdoing disturbs the mental balance. Doubt grows on the soil of sinful indulgence. The consciousness of religious difficulties should lead us to greater carefulness of life. If we are full of doubts, then let us make as sure as we can that we have not blocked up by willful sin any window of the spirit.—Rev. H. Hersley Henson, Canon of Westminster Abbey, London.

Value of Experiences.

Every experience we pass through is to fit us to help others passing through a similar experience. Paul was a great sufferer, and to him we turn for words of comfort in affliction. So we in turn are to make our experiences a blessing to others. A traveler to the far west was stranded in St. Louis and so compelled to give up his purpose. But after much hardship he began to prosper and gathered a fortune. He knew what it was to be stranded on the way and to suffer disappointment. In his will he left a large sum to help stranded pilgrims west. Andrew Carnegie had a library opened to him when he was eager to learn, but without books. From that experience came his free libraries all over the country. These men made their experience work out for others' good, for it enabled them to appreciate others' needs and minister to it. Make an application of this principle today in your own life. You have your peculiar experiences. You have suffered pain. What sympathy you ought to have for sufferers! You have made your mistakes. What gentleness you ought to exercise toward those who err! You were discouraged, and some one helped you by a kind word. How ready you ought to be to speak a word of cheer! You have had your feelings hurt by criticism. How careful you ought to be for the feelings of others! You know the frightful stress of temptation. Why not lend a hand to the tempted? Have you found a Saviour? Then how eager you ought to be to tell others of him! Do you thank God for your experiences because they help you to help others? That's part of the Christian life.—Rev. Park Hays Miller, Presbyterian, Philadelphia.

Meat Versus Song.

The great tenor's lunch consisted of a cheese omelet, asparagus, fruit and an ice.

"No meat?" said the reporter.

"As little meat as possible," the tenor replied. "Meat kills song. The nightingale, the thrush and lark are grain eaters, and their song is sweet. The carnivorous birds, the crow, etc., only croak. And in countries that go in for excessive meat eating—England, for instance—there are few good voices, while in the more vegetarian countries, such as Italy, fine singers abound. Song birds are vegetarian," he concluded, "Carnivorous birds croak."—New York Press.

DIET FOR THE FAT.

Sugar and Starchy Foods to Be Avoided—Juicy Vegetables and Water.

It is popularly believed that all fat persons are gross feeders, but this is not true. Indeed, the reverse is often the case. Obesity may be a disease, or rather, a prominent symptom of one, the trouble being with the internal chemistry of nutrition—a disease of metabolism, as it is called. It is comparable to diabetes—nearly related to it, in fact. In this disease sugar is formed in excess in the system even when very little is taken with the food, and so in obesity there is a tendency to the formation of fat in the body, even if little fat forming food is eaten. In most cases much can be done by a regulation of the diet.

The amount of meat should not be increased, but the quantity of sugar and starchy foods should be reduced, their place being taken by nonstarchy vegetables, such as spinach, cauliflower and salads. The foods to be avoided or taken in great moderation are those which contain much starch, such as rice and potatoes and all sweets—pies, puddings and candy. Tea and coffee should be taken without sugar if taken at all, and chocolate should be omitted entirely.

Bread is fattening, but for most persons it seems an indispensable article of diet. Its amount can, however, be limited, and it should be toasted.

Fats are less harmful than sugar and starch and may be allowed in moderation in the form of butter and salad oil.

The belief that the drinking of water makes fat is erroneous. If one eats juicy vegetables and especially the less sweet fruits, such as apples and grapefruit, and abandons the use of sugar, there will be a natural reduction in the amount of water taken, but one should drink all that is needed to quench thirst.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Few skins can stand glycerin, and it should never be used without being diluted. It absorbs all moisture, and the skin becomes dry and parched.

Neuralgia may very often be speedily relieved by applying a cloth saturated with essence of peppermint to the seat of pain and leaving it there.

Do not overeat or wear overtight clothes if you would avoid a red nose. Indigestion and cramped circulation can paint a more vivid hue than the rouge pot.

A good deodorizer is made by applying a hot poker to a lump of camphor gum in a saucer. The strong fumes will clear the atmosphere of a room in a few moments.

The health of the eye must be guarded. The girl who reads in a bad light, who does not care whether print is good or bad, who sits in a huddled position, with her head forward, is deliberately spoiling any beauty of eyes she may possess.

A well known chiropodist has given this hint for shoe comfort: "Never wear a shoe that will not permit the great toe to lie in a straight line." Cramping the toes not only gives corns and bunions, but so affects the feet that general misery follows. Never let vanity force you into a shoe too small. The penalty is too steep. It seemed that this particular form of silliness was disappearing, but the recent action of shoe manufacturers insisting on the correct number being placed in shoes, whether women liked it or not, looks as if common sense in footgear still bore cultivating.

A headache is one of the most tormenting ailments that ever visited humanity, and there are hundreds of different reasons for it. Men have headache, but women are the headache race. Headaches are warnings. Shopping headaches, nervous headaches and several other kinds of different sizes, widths, heights and ages warn one of some physical derangement, usually of stomach disorder. A headache is a fire alarm or any of those [illegible] a warning. It has been learned that headaches have nothing whatever to do with the brain, since the brain keeps actively at work under many distressing spells of headache, but the trouble is due to the anaemic state of the blood, which does not properly feed the nerves of the head.

Compensation For Injury.

Compensation for injury in the middle ages was in its infancy. The volume of the accounts of the lord high treasurer of Scotland, just published, tells incidentally of payments made to sufferers in the siege of Glasgow in 1544. To a carter who lost his horse $25 was paid, but $10.56 sufficed for a woman whose husband was killed, a like sum being given to the owners of two broken drums.

"Is one apt to get bruised in learning to ride the bicycle?"

"Not if you make it a rule to stop when the bicycle stops."

"What do you mean?"

The Flying Hours.

Twelve little birds fly by in a row—
Bright little birds are they,
Shining and free and as bice as can be—
And these are the hours of the day.
The sun shines warmly across their wings
As they flutter their way along,
And now and again in their joy of things
They carol a daytime song.

Twelve little owls fly by in a row—
Silent and dark their flight—
Gray little things with shadowy wings,
And these are the hours of the night.
But the last of them all as he hovers low
Is flushed with a radiant pink.
This is the good little sunrise owl,
I like him the best, I think.

Tips For Home Wedding.

The summer wedding is a dainty affair, as all rosetime happenings must be. And the bride and the bridegroom and most of all the bride's family must not forget that at this wedding, as at all weddings all the year round showiness isn't—well, just isn't very nice. The wedding breakfast, for instance, may be a charming piece of gracious hospitality and happiness. But for persons of moderate means it is the worst possible taste to splurge in the usual way. An afternoon or morning wedding can be made as charming without extravagance as with it, while the little spread provided at home for the intimate few may, with taste, take on a special exquisiteness through its very reserve. Artificial light lending particular charm to gala effects, have the big table which is to hold the refreshments in the dining room so lighted. Candles fling a pretty glow, particularly if shaded with a faint pink, and it is not absolutely necessary for the trimmings of a bride's luncheon or tea table to be in white, though the general prejudice is for this.

If the table is gracefully decorated—candle shades, ribbons and flowers all in one tone—any little bite and sup is enough to show good feeling. A simple buffet bite or afternoon tea frequently follows a wedding instead of the usual more elaborate breakfast.

At this there may be a big bowl of fruit punch, sandwiches of several sorts, fancy cakes, ices and bonbons. For those who may not care for the punch bouillon, coffee, tea or chocolate may be offered. Have the spread of whatever dainties you choose, but remember that an invitation to the home calls for some sort of hospitality, however slight.

The bride also cuts the wedding cake herself and sees that every guest has a portion.

that in your city there is an association of consumers, 600 of them banded together for their own good. Our society is 8 years old this month and has accomplished much in reducing the cost of the necessaries of life.

If groceries are cheaper in Charleroi than in any town in the valley it is due to the fact that the Co-Operative Store is the thing to be counted with. Not only we sell goods cheaper than any merchant in Western Pennsylvania, but if any profits, we repay those profits in the shape of dividends to the right owner—to the consumer.

You're welcome in our membership.

25c will pay your admission as member

As soon as your admission is paid in you participate in all the benefits the association is bringing to its members. You have a right to vote and elect your own officers. You share in the division of surplus each three months, according to the amount of goods you have bought. Unlike other corporations, the moneyed man does not rule our society; it is one man one vote and no proxy. The highest amount of stock a person can have in the association is $100. And whether you have $5 or $100 invested your rights are the same. Equal right and opportunity to all. Co-operation means "The greatest good to the greatest number." No distinction in nationalities, creeds or politics. It is common good of the entire humanity.

FLINT AND TINDER.

Making Fire in the Days Before We Had Matches.

A friend of mine of just my age used to laugh about his own boyhood and tell the story of his mother shaking him in bed and bidding him put on his boots when he dressed and his overcoat and wade through the snow to the next neighbor's to get a pan of hot coals with which to make the fire. I suppose Joe's mother had lost her flint. We kept our flint and what was called "the steel" in a round tin box such as would hold a quart of strawberries now, and it was on the mantelpiece in the kitchen. It was half full of tinder. Half the boys and girls of today do not know what tinder is or was.

Now, whoever was in the kitchen in the morning and found that the last hot coal of the wood fire had gone out took down the tinder box and struck the steel with the flint smartly and often until a redhot spark fell on the tinder; then very carefully she blew with her breath on any flakes of the tinder which had lighted until she had quite a little cove of lighted tinder. Then she took what we called a brimstone match and put that very carefully in the little hot hole. If all things worked well, the brimstone [illegible] lighted, and she lighted the candle which made a part of the tinder box.

Oh, dear! There were thousands of tinder boxes in little Boston the day I was born, and a few years ago I tried to buy one as a curiosity, and I could not find one in any of the junkshops. In those days old women would stop at the door and ask you to buy some bundles of matches. They had made these themselves of pine wood four inches long, which they had dipped in hot brimstone at both ends. And those were the only matches that anybody ever heard of.—Woman's Home Companion.

THE JOY OF EATING.

It Is Courted to the Fullest Extent in Berlin.

The Germans in a good many ways get more happiness out of life as they go along than we do. Eating is an innocent pleasure, and they eat oftener and more. No one is required to get up to breakfast. There is never any formal family breakfast. Coffee and rolls are sent to your room, or you can go into the dining room and get them when you choose. Not having had breakfast enough, a German spends all the rest of the day in making up for it. At 10:30 or 11 everybody takes lunch. The laborers along the streets all stop to eat. And in general it may be said that in all places and at all hours it is good form and a matter of course to draw out a substantial sandwich of rye bread and raw ham and go to munching. Women do it at the opera. Students do it at the university between classes. Dinner comes at 2 o'clock. About 5 the maid brings to your room coffee and rolls and perhaps cake. At 8 p. m. is supper. Those who are going out to any entertainment may have supper at 6 or 7. But there is always a long enough intermission at the opera or theater for those who are disposed to take lunch, and most persons are disposed.

There are innumerable restaurants all about the city, and tens of thousands of people eat there, sitting at little tables in the open air right by the sidewalk. After the day with all its cares and meals is over it is a favorite custom to go to a restaurant and sit there for half the night eating and drinking and listening to music. No city in the world hears so much good music so cheaply as Berlin. And everybody who is anybody knows enough about music to talk with some intelligence.—Berlin Letter to Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Do Crows Recognize Sunday?

A large number of crows were foraging for food not long ago close to the house of a farmer in West Virginia. They were unusually bold, as though hunger had driven them to forget their usual shyness and distrust of their natural enemies—men.

Two of them alighted close to the back door and picked up the crumbs with an apparent assurance of their safety not easily accounted for. The farmer was telling a neighbor about the tameness of the birds, and the latter remarked:

"You won't see them foolhardy tomorrow."

"Why not tomorrow as well as today?"

"Because today is Sunday, and these crows know it. They know that one day in seven they are not popped at by boys and men. They can count, crows can, and they know that on the seventh day they are exempt from persecution.

"I once lived near a swamp where thousands of crows made their roosting place, and early in the morning they used to start for the mountains for their food. I was often out with my gun trying to get a shot at them. Week days they were shy of me, and I seldom got a shot at them, but on Sunday morning it was different. Then they would fly low and close to my house, their wings almost flapping the ridgeboards of house and barns. Do crows know when it is Sunday? Of course they do."—Exchange.

Sleepy Sermons.

"Some men preach," said Sydney Smith, "as if they thought sin is to be taken out of a man as Eve was taken out of Adam, by casting him into a profound slumber."

Wade not in unknown waters.—German Proverb.

A Fixed Law.

"You are positive this happened on Tuesday?" demanded counsel.

"I am," said the witness.

"Sure it was Tuesday?"

"Yes."

"Why not Thursday or Friday?"

"Because we had chicken that day. Chicken day is Tuesday where I heard."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Cook's Declension.

The cook picked up an egg. She looked at it doubtfully.

"It's bad," she said

She dropped it.

"It's worse!" she hastily added.—Exchange.

Not Acting.

Actor—All the newspapers say my impersonation of Caesar last night was absolutely real. Rival—Perhaps that's so. Everybody I've met says it certainly wasn't acting.

A HARD TASKMASTER.

Agassiz Forced His Pupils to Find Out For Themselves.

When I sat me down before my tin pan Agassiz brought me a small fish, placing it before me with the rather stern requirement that I should study it, but should on no account talk to any one concerning it or read anything concerning fishes until I had his permission so to do. To my inquiry, "What shall I do?" he said in effect: "Find out what you can without damaging the specimen. When I think that you have done the work I will question you." In the course of an hour I thought I had compassed that fish. But Agassiz, though always within call, concerned himself no further with me that day nor the next nor for a week. At first this neglect was distressing. But I saw that it was a game, for he was, as I discerned rather than saw, covertly watching me. So I set my wits to work upon the thing and in the course of a hundred hours or so thought I had done much, a hundred times as much as seemed possible at the start. I felt full of the subject and probably expressed it in my bearing. As for words about it then, there were none from my master, except his cheery "Good morning." At length on the seventh day came the question, "Well?" and my disgorge of learning to him as he sat on the edge of my table, puffing his cigar. At the end of the hour's telling he swung off and away, saying, "That is not right."

I went at the task anew, discarded my first notes, and in another week of ten hours a day labor I had results which astonished myself and satisfied him. Still there was no trace of praise in words or manner. He signified that it would do by placing before me about a half a peck of bones, telling me to see what I could make of them with no further directions to guide me. Two months or more went to this task, with no other help than an occasional looking over my grouping with the stereotyped remark, "That is not right." Finally the task was done, and I was again set upon alcoholic specimens. — "Autobiography of Professor Shaler" in Atlantic.

Don't Overlook Good Things

The man who invented the hinged collar button and got rich by it, saw a good thing that had been within six inches of millions of men's eyes for over fifty years.

A young chap came into the store Saturday—wanted to know the minute he got inside whether we had such and such a suit that was in the window on Monday. No it was sold—"I knew it" he said "A friend of mine has it on."

"I've admired that suit in the window two or three times but I'll be jiggered if I thought it could be bought for the price he told me he paid." "Got anything like it?" "Why don't you put prices on them in the window?"

"Who made the suit anyway?"

A PUBLIC BENEFIT

Charleroi People Are Greatly Interested in the Generous Offer of John W. Carroll

The people have already demonstrated that they would rather trust a man who is naturally honest than one who is honest only because he had to be.

John W. Carroll has a firmly established reputation for square dealing and sterling honesty. When they told the people that Rexall Remedies are the purest and most dependable medicines that it is possible for modern science to produce, and that they would tell the public what each one of these 300 or more remedies contained, and that they sold Rexall Remedies on their personal gurantee that they would give entire satisfaction or they would not cost the user a single cent, they were believed.

Ever since this annoucement John W. Carroll has been largely patronized by people buying Rexall Remedies, all of which proves that this store has the confidence of the people and that honesty is the best policy.

There is no "cure all" among the Rexall Remedies. There are different and separate medicines, each one devised for a certain human ailment or a class of ailments closely allied. For instance Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are recommended for the positive relief of stomach irritation, indigestion, flatulency and dyspepsia. They are rich in Bismuth Subnitrate, Pepsin and Carminatives. They are prepared by special processes which perfect and enhance the great remedial value of these well known medicinal agents.

This remedy sells for 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00 per package. Every one suffering from stomach disorder should try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, inasmuch as they cost nothing if they do not satisfy.

Remember John W. Carroll's store in Charleroi where these remedies may be obtained and every one in need of medicine is urged to investigate and take advantage of the frank and generous manner in which they are sold.

Notice.

The Retail Clerks of Charleroi wish to express their thanks to the merchants who have so willingly signed and complied with the agreement of the Retail Clerks relative to the early closing of the stores.

They also earnestly solict the patronage of all friends and sympathizers of organized Labor also the public in general to patronize our home merchants, and more especially thoset who display the Union Store cards who believe that twelve hours is long enough for anybody to work.

We also earnestly request the public to aid us in this move by purchasing their goods in the day time when they can make better selections and will receive better service from clerks who do not have to work from early morning till late at night. 195t2

We've planned it all, dear Jack and I, we're going to marry next July; and we are going to start life right, and make our home a grand delight. Our little house, just nice for two, is furnished and all bright and new. Jack says the floors are smooth and bright—Chi-Namel will do that all right. TEN PEOPLE WHO KNOW HOW TO ACT

Harry M. Bitner's Boys and Girl company, which is holding the boards at the Star Theatre the last three days of this week attracted a record breaking crowd upon the first night.

At each performance the house was packed to its capacity and it was necessary to turn patrons away. To say that the show was enjoyed is expressing it too mildly as the frequent rounds of applause which met the efforts of the performers showed that their work was being appreciated.

The scene of the playlet is a country school house on the last day of school and a program of songs and dances has been arranged. Each member contributes numbers which are interspersed with wit and cross fire.

The work of Frank Zee Rell as "Patsy Bolliver" is seldom equalled and he became quite a favorite last night. Zee Rell, who is past the three score mark, was the original Peck's Bad Boy and has been practically reared behind the footlights. He keeps the fun going from the first to the last moment and every gesture proved amusing. Zee Rell is one of those comedians who puts his whole heart into the work and the faculty of pleasing the most skeptic. He is considered by local critics the best along this line that has ever appeared here. His ability was assisted in his comedy by Evan Evans as Ikey Goldstein, Marie Dacre as Sis Hopkins and Tom Morris, the German school teacher. The other members of the company are well up in their lines. The singing and dancing is excellent. The "School Comedy Quartet" made a hit last night and was compelled to respond to several encores. The moving pictures are as always up to the standard.

Her Awful Sin.

A little girl of six once went in great distress to her mother, saying that she had committed a sin which could never be forgiven and which was too bad to be repeated. By dint of a little coaxing she was induced to make a full confession, which was in this wise:

"I felt so sorry for poor Satan and wanted to give him a little comfort. So I got a glass of cold water and poured it down a little hole in the kitchen floor."

BELLS OF THE BASTILLE.

They Are Hung In a Little Rustic Building In Paris.

The bells of the Bastille are still in Paris in a little court in Avenue d'Eylau, where they are hung in a little rustic building. There is no doubt as to their authenticity. They carry in relief their story. "These three bells were made by Louis Cheron, founder to the court, for the royal Bastille in the year 1761." Fleurs-de-lis, crosses and sacred figures adorn the legend. The bells formerly were part of the clock installed by M. Sartine in 1764. In the archives de l'arsenal are all the documents relative to the work.

On July 14, 1789, the balls of the assailants stopped the clock of the Bastille at a quarter past 5 in the evening. Palloy, who demolished the prison, three days later received the order to deliver the clock to the commander of the Paris militia, who transported it no one knows whither. After the revolution the bells were found at the foundries of Rouilly-sur-Andelle in Eure, where, under the reign of terror, the church bells were converted into money. The proprietor of the foundry was interested in these relics and did not melt them. He installed the three bells in his works with the movement of the clock. By this time the dial plate had disappeared and the figures which belonged to it. Some years ago the bells were transferred from the Rouilly foundry to Paris, and there they have since remained.—London Globe.

Muskrats For Meat.

Of all animals that supply meat to man the muskrat has been the most abused and the least understood, says the Baltimore Star. Its name had bred in the public mind a prejudice that has been almost unconquerable, but truth will prevail in spite of fate. As a fact the muskrat is one of the neatest and most delightful of animals. It is a crank in cleanliness. It dines with the care of an epicure. It eats only the whitest and tenderest morsels. And its flesh has qualities that can be compared only to terrapin. Indeed, there are good people along the Chesapeake, where all the best things live and grow, who find in the well served muskrat satisfaction that is equal to the diamondback. Only the ignorant and the prejudiced think differently, and they may be educated.

Coarsely Defined.

"What is the distinguishing quality of the problem play?"

"It makes you think. The first half keeps you wondering what the question is, and the second half keeps you guessing what's the answer."—Washington Star.
